State Owned Multinationals Jean-Pierre Anastassopoulos 1987-12-14 Providing the first detailed treatment of state-owned multinational corporations, this book is based on a world-wide study consisting of in-depth interviews of top managers and government officials in a sample of thirty major multinational state-owned companies. Through extensive discussion and numerous examples, it identifies and describes some of the more significant cases and analyzes what countries state-owned multinationals originate from, what industries they are in, and where and how they operate abroad. Also analyzes the accusation of unfair competition which is often cast upon state-owned multinationals, and explains how and why some, but not all, state-owned companies become real multinationals.

The Left's Dirty Job W. Rand Smith 1998 "The Left's Dirty Job "compares the experiences of recent socialist governments in France and Spain, examining how the governments of Francois Mitterrand (1981-1995) and Felipe Gonzalez (1982-1996) provide a key test of whether a leftist approach to industrial restructuring is possible. This study argues that, in fact, both governments' policies generally resembled those of other European governments in their emphasis on market-adapting measures that eliminated thousands of jobs while providing income support for displaced workers. Featuring extensive field work and interviews with over one hundred political, labor, and business leaders, this study is the first systematic comparison of these important socialist governments.

Modernisation Strategy for National Irrigation Systems in the Philippines Mona Liza F. Delos Reyes 2017-07-12

The book presents documentary evidence of the insufficiency of rehabilitation works to close the gap between the irrigation service and actual area irrigated of publicly funded national irrigation systems in the Philippines. It outlines a methodology for formulating a modernisation plan for national irrigation systems with focus on the mostly ungauged, medium to small canal irrigation systems. The proposed methodology adaptively modified some known modernisation concepts and techniques and integrated them in a more holistic framework in the context of changing weather patterns and river flow regimes. It includes in-depth review of rehabilitation works; system diagnosis; revalidation of design assumptions on percolation and water supply; characterisation of system management, irrigation service and demand; and drawing up of options and a vision for the modernised irrigation systems. Central to the proposed modernisation strategy is the logical coherence among the design of physical structures, system operation and water supply so that improvements of irrigation service are possible. The book discusses the development of the proposed methodology and demonstrates its utility in two case study irrigation systems.

Merging Traffic John A. C. Conybeare 2004 During the past few decades the global auto industry has concentrated into a small number of groups led by GM, Ford, Daimler-Chrysler, VW, Toyota, and Renault. The trend is of great political and economic significance because of the large size of the industry, its importance to the economic health of many countries, and its geographic spread around the globe. Many reasons are commonly cited when trying to explain this rapid corporate consolidation—cost savings, new products and markets, price controls, and labor negotiations chief among them. Frequently, however, mergers do not achieve their stated goals. Merging Traffic explores all these factors and goes on to suggest that, as with the mystique of the automobile itself, other motivations may prevail.

Sans Bill ni Murray Alexandre Steiger 2020-08-26T00:00:00+02:00 À Villejuif, en banlieue parisienne, Antoine Taupin, cinéaste sur le déclin, est sur le point d'enterrer ses ambitions. Entre les barres d'immeubles et les terrains en friche, il traîne son spleen, tandis que s'ouvre devant lui le chantier du Grand Paris. C'est alors qu'à la sortie d'un Picard Surgelés, il croit reconnaître la silhouette de Bill Murray, qui s'engouffre dans une limousine avant de disparaître. Qu'est-ce qu'une star internationale pourrait bien faire au beau milieu du Val-de-Marne ? L'apparition du « pape de la mélancolie » incarne-t-elle, pour Antoine, un début de rédemption ? Mais un doute subsiste : s'agit-il vraiment de Bill Murray ? Alexandre Steiger est comédien, cinéaste et écrivain. Il est l'auteur de La Distance, paru chez Léo Scheer, en 2017.

The Lyotard Reader and Guide Keith Crome 2006-09-22 The Lyotard Reader and Guide is a one-stop companion to Lyotard's thought. It covers the full range of his works, from his three main books (Discours, figure; Libidinal Economy; and The Differend) and up to his influential essays in The Inhuman and Postmodern Fables. The readings are organized into sections on philosophy, politics, art, and literature. Several have never before been translated into English. Detailed introductions to each section by two leading Lyotard scholars explain the philosopher's key ideas and provide crucial social, political, aesthetic, and philosophical context. As a sourcebook and guide, this is the most up-to-date and comprehensive volume on Lyotard. It is indispensable to students and scholars in philosophy, literature, the arts, and politics.

Robert Doisneau Peter Hamilton 1995 The first authorized biography available, Robert Doisneau provides an intimate rich account of the life of the French photographer who captured the streets and elusive spaces of Paris as the city entered the modern era. Drawing not only upon Doisneau's previously unpublished archives but also on conversations with the photographer in his final years, this book examines every aspect of Doisneau's work, including the techniques he used. Emphasized are his periods of engagement with the birth of photojournalism in the 1930s; with humanist social realism in the 1940s and 1950s; and with montage and art brut in the 1960s. The photographs, made by Doisneau on his own and while working for Vogue, Life, and other well-known magazines, reveal how the familiar is swept away, a theme germane to city-dwellers everywhere.

HAPM Component Life Manual Hapm Publications Ltd. 1992-11-19 This publication breaks new ground. It is the first document to provide extensive life-span assessments (for insurance purposes) for a wide range of building components which are classified within the concept of quality specifications. in that sense it is both robust and flexible.

Understanding Global Environmental Politics M. Paterson 2000-04-07 Understanding Global Environmental Politics develops a new, critical approach to global environmental politics. It argues that the major power structures of world politics are deeply problematic in ecological terms, and that they cannot be easily used to resolve major environmental challenges such as global warming. Instead of simply advocating the construction of new international institutions to respond to such challenges, therefore, the book argues that the construction of alternative social and political structures is necessary.
